

The Shocking True Revelation!

Flirting in the work place can lead to promiscuous!

In a recent survey, coworkers of men and women admitted that they routinely flirt with the opposite sex. Two out of three women admit they have sexual thoughts about their coworkers and later did have sexual contact. 65% of women admit to having sex with people they work with and continue to do so even after they have left the company.

14% of married women have had affairs at least once during their married lives and admitted to having sexual relations outside their marriage sometime in their past. 40% of women will have an affair at some point in some marriage. Younger women are as likely as younger men to be unfaithful.

Most of the married men did not know of their spouses' extramarital activity until it is too late. More than half of people in the survey have used the Internet to flirt online with 70% of time is spent in private chat rooms or sending email. The vast majority are romantic in nature. 93% of them store their secret pictures and mails in their personal computer. Only 7% of them store it in their hand phones.

People who engaged in extramarital activity have explicit online sex pictures in their inbox email and 30% people who flirt, have made secret phone contact by calling or sending short message texts that eventually led to sexual encounter. The true fact is that all extramarital activities are pre-meditated!

Remember, getting too personal is a precursor to tying your life with the person!

Coworkers who have close contact or getting too personal with the opposite sex will most likely to have one or more affairs in their life. Conversations that lace with sexual innuendo or crude sexual jokes have a higher chance of trapping coworkers into real time sexual affair. Most evidence has proved that there is a high correlation between infidelity and subsequent real time sexual affairs.

Evidence supports the existence of non-inhibition, accelerated intimacy, and hypersexual behavior that can easily lead to real time infidelity. Adultery statistics state that 50% of men who feel their spouse is cheating are usually right. The first clue is seldom obvious. Typically, it's a "feeling" that something is different and is not right.

Experts say that a gut instinct is the most powerful indicator of a cheating spouse. Various researchers consider at the present time, some 45% to about 55% of married women have at least one lover or secret admirer after they are married. Most of the divorce cases are caused by spouse cheating. 90% of the victims in this survey believe that adultery is morally wrong.

The fact is that human beings are NOT monogamous by nature. That means they cheat!
